
Greetings

Dear human resources manager,

Below this letter you will find my resume. I found your position today in — and wish to know more about you and your team.

I'm a young engineer and practitioner of full-stack development, looking to develop real world solutions and know the processes carried out by today's organizations. I have a fondness for reading, music, cold climates, and the study of engineering—technology subjects, for which I want to learn how you perform your operations and show you that I can be a great addition to your development team.

Your position requires — , requirements in which I have experience because of — .

I appreciate your time reading this letter, and the opportunity you present for us young engineers. Feel free to contact me through my phone +52 222 265 0774 , my e-mail jesugq@gmail.com or any of the three interactable icons at the top of this document. I wish you this — .

Sincerely,
Jesús Antonio González Quevedo
